

UNHAPPY?

Who are you listening to?- Psalm 1:1,2

Something is keeping you from trusting God! – Psalm 2:12

2- Someone or something is telling you your problem is too great & your God is too small- This causes you to trust in other things

3- Someone or something is telling you you've gone so far away from God He can't hear you!- This makes you hesitant about going to Him

4- Someone or something is telling you that your anger will fix things & make your life better; after all, good can't possibly prevail over evil- This causes you to be angry & restless

5- Someone or something is telling you that God operates like man does- This makes you feel that God can't be trusted

6- Someone or something is telling you that because you walked away from God He doesn't love you anymore- This is why you're so depressed & despondent

7- Someone or something has told you that you don't deserve to be treated the way that you are- This causes you to be fixated on your self-righteousness & bent on crusades rather than trust in God & minister in lovingkindness

8- Someone or something is telling you that you are insignificant to God & therefore useless- This makes you feel that you won't ever be used by God to accomplish anything great! So why even try?

9 & 10- Someone or something is telling you in light of affliction & abuses that no one really cares about you & you will soon be forgotten- This makes you conclude that your humble position & condition destines you to eternal neglect & oblivion

11- Someone or something is telling you that you have become vulnerable & emotionally unstable since all your pillars & paragons have begun to disappear- This makes you want to fly away to look for a place more stable

12- Someone or something has told you that deception & flattery really pays off!- This makes you wonder if God's Word has any merit or benefit

13- Someone or something is telling you God is not that interested or involved with your concerns. You must find the answer deep within yourself- Your self-analysis only makes you more depressed & the darkness only seems to be winning
